NONFICTION BOOK

(OTHER THAN AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY OR BIOGRAPHY)

Directions: Fill out this form completely, neatly, and in blue or black ink.

Define the following words that might be important in understanding nonfiction reading.

1. inference - to come to a logical conclusion from given information
2. imply - to express indirectly rather than state plainly
3. fact - something that exists and can be proven to be true
4. analogy - a similarity between features of two things on which other comparisons can be based
5. allusion - a reference to something in literature or history that the author expects the reader to know

Cite your source correctly. Books should be cited exactly like this:

Author's last name, Author's first name. Title. City of Publication: Publishing Company, year of publication. Print.

(If you are handwriting a book title, underline it instead of using italics.)

Farrington, Jan. Bouncing Back. Columbus: McGraw-Hill Companies, 2009. Print.

Number of pages: 751

In complete sentences tell three things you learned from this book.

1. I learned that a person can learn to become resilient.
2. I learned that many famous people have overcome problems.
3. I learned that people can become stronger by experiencing hardship

Choose a sentence or two from the book that has at least one word with which you are unfamiliar. Write that complete quote on the next page. Use quotation marks, exact words, punctuation, and spelling. (If you cannot find an unfamiliar word, you need to choose a book that is more challenging.)
